

Community Well Testing

What's in your water? Coliform bacteria? Arsenic? Nitrates? The best practice is to find out. Well testing kits will go on sale at the township offices starting October 1st. The dates for return of the samples are Thursday, October 24 and Friday, October 25. All tests results are managed by the Raritan Headwaters Association through State-approved water-testing laboratories. Results are confidential, although the Environmental Commission will seek your approval to share the results for our decade-long study on the health of the township's potable water resources. There is a limit to the number of test kits that can be processed on either of the collection days, so don't wait too long to buy a kit. For a schedule of prices for all kits (the basic kit is $60, which tests total coliform and fecal confirmation, plus nitrates), go to <https://www.raritanheadwaters.org/protect/well-testing/community-well-testing/>
